the study found that prescriptions for atypical antipsychotics have more than doubled since the mid-1990s, from 6.2 million in 1995 to 14.3 million by 2008

but words are really hard to perceive.

these services improve health outcomes and lower costs for payers including employers, managed care organizations, health systems, pharmacy benefit managers and the public sector